Investment strategy

SKAGEN Focus is a high conviction equity fund that seeks to generate long-term capital growth by investing in a portfolio of global companies across the market capitalisation spectrum, with the majority of exposure invested in small and mid-cap companies. Subscriptions are made in fund units and not directly in stocks or other securities. The benchmark reflects the fund's investment mandate. Since the fund is actively managed, the portfolio will deviate from the composition of the benchmark.

Monthly commentary, May 2025

Global equity markets rebounded during the month as trade-related concerns eased and optimism grew around potential trade agreements between the US and several key partners.

However, the behaviour of the US administration continues to be unpredictable and erratic, which increases the risk premium for US assets and is also reflected in the weaker dollar. A court even determined that most of the tariffs are illegal which was immediately appealed by the US administration.

In the meantime, European countries are aligning more strongly and with a new government in place in Germany with high ambitions for increased fiscal spending, neglected and ignored European small and mid-caps should increasingly come onto investors' radar. As we are guided by value, we continue to be solidly positioned outside the US in, for instance, the ignored and heavily discounted European small cap area and hold limited positions in the US equity markets.

During the month, the fund delivered a strong return, outperforming global equity markets. The top contributor was Korean conglomerate Hanwha Corp, which rallied on robust performance from its defence units and a narrowing of the significant holding company discount relative to its listed asset values. Our Indonesian nickel producer, Vale Indonesia, rebounded sharply as the previously elevated political risk premium began to normalize. Meanwhile, our Japanese gaming company, Akatsuki – trading at near-zero enterprise value – declined as earnings came in somewhat below expectations.

We initiated a new position in Korean regional bank BNK Financial, which trades at a substantial discount to its intrinsic value despite a clear path toward improved capital allocation.

SKAGEN's approach to sustainability

Our ESG approach is built on four pillars. In keeping with SKAGEN's active investment philosophy, our sustainability activities centre on active engagement with our holding companies, which is where we believe we can have the greatest impact.
